Foreign Drama Continues In Its Invasion of Broadway Bringing With It Lively Competition

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, March 27.—Foreign drama continues its invasion of Broadway this week, when four plays written or inspired abroad will be presented.

Lively competition is promised between "Half-Caste," a drama of the South Seas, which opens tomorrow night at the National theatre and "Kongo," a play of Leopoldian which will have its premiere at the Biltmore the following evening. In neither production is he heroine one hundred per cent Caucasian and both are described as gripping, potent and other adjectives suggesting strong stuff, served with little or no dressing.

Alice Brady returns to the speaking stage Tuesday night at the Greenwich Village, in "Bride of the Lamb," which is proclaimed a novelty, and next Saturday the Shuberts revive "Pinafore," as the first of a long series of Gilbertian offerings.

The theatre Guild's production of "The Chief Thing" and Werfel's "Schweiger" at the Mansfield proved curiously interesting to the first week's audiences. The Guild production is a virtually a Russian version of the theme which was developed in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" years ago, but presented with far greater elaboration of plot and character and splendidly.

The Werfel drama, beginning with a mad-house and terminating with tragic death, proved a stark, rasping play in which the acting of Ann Harding and Jacob Ben-Ami glittered.

Speaking of tragedies, there was the presentation, "Ashes of Love" by and with the Countess Cathcart at the National theatre. Concerning its dramatic merits, the only question that arose among the critics was whether a worse play was ever produced in this fair city. The engagement was for one week and the week terminated last night. Today, the piece is history.

Among the production of unusual interest is "Rainbow Rose" the new musical comedy at the Forrest theatre in which George MacFarlane, the famed singer, makes his bow as producer. In the face of the most difficult obstacles on a long road season, MacFarlane brought his show to New York and as a truly heroic measure eliminated himself from the cast before the Broadway premiere. Whether fate smiled on this sacrifice is altogether conjecturable, but the comedy is promising.

pering and George appears happier behind the grill in the box office than he ever looked in most exuberant moments behind the footlights.

Spring, when it's truly here, will see numerous revivals, several on a large scale. The Shubert presentation of "Pinafore" next Saturday will be followed by the all-starred "Two Orphans" at the Cosmopolitan theatre under Shubert-Brady management. Winthrop Ames will put forth "Iolanthe," and the lesser theatres too are overhauling old script. Business it not what it should be, say managers, but then it never is.

Ball Is Staged Here By Odd Fellows Lodge

The dance given by the Richmond Canton No. 40 last night at the Odd Fellows hall was attended by Odd Fellows from all about the bay regions. In spite of the fact that several other dances were in progress at the time of the Odd Fellows ball a large number crowded the hall.

L. C. Mershon was in charge of the committee that worked to make the dance such a success. He made all arrangements for the affair.

All that attended declared that it was one of the best dances held in this city for a number of years and the local Canton was pleased that the affair went over the way that it did.

A HALF-FINISHED FORT

When young George Washington came back from his trip to protest to the French against their occupation of the Ohio valley in the middle of the eighteenth century, Dinwiddie, the man who sent him, began to get ready for immediate war.

Washington's protest had carried a threat. He had told the French that their refusal to obey the English would mean war. Dinwiddie decided, after conferring with Washington concerning the desirable sites that he had found in his journey, that a fort should be built just where the Allegheny and the Monongahela rivers join to form the Ohio.

Men and supplies were dispatched to build the fort at once. Then the call for recruits for the army was sounded. But the men did not collect very quickly. So a land reward was promised those who would sign up. This was effective. It was the habit in those days to gain recruits for the army by some such promise of reward. Men responded more quickly.

It was in the spring of 1754 that Washington set out with about 300 men. Probably he meant to make the new fort at the head of the Ohio his headquarters. He had every reason to expect that the fort was complete and ready for occupation.

But before ever he got to the fort site he was met by a queer-looking lot of hopeless men. They were the men sent out some time before to build the fort and hold it in readiness.

To Washington's astonishment and chagrin, they told a story of surrender with never a shot fired.

It seemed that they had been slow and uninterested in their work at best. They had but half completed their work when they were surprised by an army of the French. To them it was a large army for there were 500 men. And they were equipped with plenty of guns and ammunition. Nor was that all. They had cannon as well. They saw at once that it would be useless to resist. They surrendered without firing a gun.

Washington determined to find another good location for a fort; to await reinforcements and then to engage in open combat.

And what had the French done with the half-finished fort of the English? They had torn it down and erected their own Fort Duquesne.

Why have OAKLAND Sales Doubled

All America has bestowed upon the Oakland Six the one sure mark of preference—ever-growing demand. State after state has favored the car so strongly that sales have doubled in the past six months.

The reasons for this unprecedented favor will be readily apparent to anyone who tests Oakland Six abilities.

The car has power for any hill you will encounter—more speed than you will care to use—acceleration that excites envy—smoothness of performance unmatched in its field—and, better still, a rugged endurance that assures years of service.

Moreover, Oakland's amazing prices—$70 to $350 lower—single out the Oakland Six as an unequalled investment.

From One to 135 Stores Is the Record Growth of Western Auto Supply Company During Ten Years

By OLIVER WEST

The Western Auto Supply Company in making arrangements for a birthday party that celebrates the tenth anniversary of the founding of the concern in 1916, is reversing the usual custom of being the recipients of gifts on the occasion and is inaugurating a tremendous money-saving sale at all of their 135 stores, where for three weeks money-saving values will be offered on standard articles of automobile equipment selected from the regular stock.

The first Western Auto Supply company store was opened in Los Angeles in 1916 by George Peppardine, founder of the company and its present head. This small store was opened with a stock worth approximately $1000. Peppardine had had some previous experience in the automobile accessory business in a middle western state and came to Los Angeles with a thorough realization of the value of advertising and the friends that could be made by selling standard merchandise at as low a cost as possible consistent with quality, and standing absolutely back of every sale that was made. This policy, which has continued in effect through the entire growth of the company, has probably been the secret of the organization's success.

From the modest start with one store in 1916, the Western Auto Supply company grew to a chain of 20 stores in 1920, and the business had increased to an annual worth of about $400,000. The business was then incorporated and additional capital secured through the sale of stock, a large portion of the stock being purchased by employees of the company. The business was extended to all the large towns and cities in the Pacific Coast states and grew with such rapidity that the 435 store was recently opened.

Western Auto now has 90 stores in California, and one or more stores in every other important community in Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah, Oregon, Washington and the Hawaiian Islands.

The growth of the Western Auto Supply Company is actually the growth of an idea plus a determination on the part of one man to see his idea through. The indomitable courage of George Peppardine in rigidly adhering to his policies in the face of competition, both fair and unfair, has resulted in the building up of a business that had a turnover of over $11,000,000 in 1925.

As a token of the company's appreciation of the patronage that has made its tremendous growth possible during the past ten years, the Western Auto Supply company is giving to each tire purchaser during this sale a new standard inner tube. Present high prices of rubber make this gift a money-saving feature of great importance. Throughout the three weeks of this sale standard Western Auto merchandise in the most popular accessories will be offered at prices considerably less than the regular Western Auto low prices at which the goods are sold. The prices and the free inner tube will be in effect in all Western Auto stores, wherever they may be located.

Lena R. Peppardine - Vice-President and Treasurer of the Western Auto Supply Co.

George Peppardine - Founder and President of the Western Auto Supply Co.

Community Hotel Is to Be Finished Sometime In June

Dedication ceremonies for the opening of the new Richmond Community hotel will be held in June, according to H. M. Johnston, secretary-treasurer of the hotel, who announces that the new structure will be completed by that time.

The ventilating and heating plants have been installed, the wiring is completed, elevator machinery is now in place and the plumbing will be completed shortly. Although the contractors, Barrett and Hill, have had difficulties in securing metal lathers, the lathing is nearly completed and plasterers are following closely behind them.

The outside finish, which will be of buff-colored brick, will be started early next week.

The directors of the hotel, accompanied by Charles B. Hamilton, lease of the new hotel, will leave for Marysville shortly to inspect the recently completed hotel there. The purpose of the visit is to inspect especially the furnishings of the hotel so that the best of furnishings for the Richmond hotel can be secured.

When opened, the Richmond hotel is expected to be one of the finest from the standpoint of building and furnishings, in California. Hamilton has signified his intention of coming to Richmond within a few days and after his visit here, the party will go to Marysville.

MARCH WILL BE BIG MONTH IN AUTO INDUSTRY

(By Universal Service)

DETROIT, March 27.—March will be the greatest month that the automobile industry has ever known. New high records both from production and sales standpoint seem certain to be established.

With a very few exceptions every factory in the Detroit district is reported the greatest business in history. Although five or six of the leaders are doing a sensational business, the demand is not confined to any group.

Production for the month should approximate 450,000 motor vehicles, if the present pace is maintained throughout the closing days of March.

Every section of the country is crying for cars, manufacturers report. Spring, which has always been the automobile's best salesman, is outdoing itself this year, as the main stem in the urge to buy a new automobile.

Approximately 15,000 auto-biles are leaving the Detroit district every day to satisfy the country and world's requirements for motor cars.

Roads in the northern sections of the country are opening up and with good touring weather in sight, a continuance of the bumper demand is expected for several months.

Retail automobile business in Detroit and vicinity is fifty percent better than during any previous month. One distributor of a medium priced six cylinder car is selling at the rate of 85 cars a day.

One of the most notable examples of the opportunity which the automobile industry provides for capable men was seen in the announcement last week that Harold S. Vance, Studebaker general sales manager, has been promoted to vice-president in charge of manufacturing.

Vance, who is one of the most popular and efficient executives in the business, started with Studebaker in 1910 as an apprentice mechanic earning 15 cents an hour. In the intervening years he has served Studebaker in various capacities, thoroughly earning the position and distinction which he attained last week.

Bull Attacks Water Project

Secretary John H. Kimball of the East Bay Municipal Utility District announced today that the work of the District in its Mokelumne construction program has just been subjected to a new attack from a wholly unexpected quarter.

While Assistant Engineer Ralph Wheeler, of Engineer Grunsky's Valley Springs division, was checking work along the Mokelumne river near Middle Bar last Thursday his rodman had some difficulty in locating a hub. Wheeler left his surveying instrument standing alone to help him. When he was returning to the instrument he saw a bull in the act of knocking the transit and knocking it down. Kimball says that he has written Engineer Wheeler for any evidence he may have as to whether this new attack was inspired by enemies of the district. While there have been many "bear" attacks against the Mokelumne project this is the first instance in which the "bulls" have taken a hand.

Youth Predominates at the Presentation Of Wagnerian Operas In New York Theatre

By MME. COBINA WRIGHT,
Society's Renowned Singer and Writer.

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, March 27.—The annual performances of the Wagnerian cycle are in the throes of presentation and the Friday afternoon gatherings at the Metropolitan Opera House form an interesting contrast to the usual cut and dried conventional audiences of the opera. To begin with, extreme youth is predominant. Little boys in knickerbockers, and small girls with their hair down their backs are to be seen occupying the stalls guarded by fond parents and watchful governesses who take care that their diminutive charges receive their first impressions of the Bayreuthian idol with due decorum and solemnity. And there is a fair proportion of conservative elders performing the yearly igitte at the Wagnerian altar.

Any cuts in the score are recognized and frowned upon by these staunch devotees who demand their Wagner as Wagner wrote it and prefer the good old custom of making a day of "Parsifal" and adjourning an hour for lunch to any consideration shown by the management to the exigencies of out-of-town or the commuter's special. Curtailment of the "ring" is deemed an unwarrantable and impertinent intrusion upon the Master's genius.

Moreover these performances are faithfully attended by members of the theatrical professions who spend their "afternoons off" steeping themselves in the Wagnerian traditions. Here are to be found Margalo Gilmore, Florence Reed, Alfred Lunt and numerous others.

During the recent "Cycle" one was apt to discover an ominous white slip tucked away in the program bearing the words in heavy black lettering:

Special Notice.

The indulgence of the audience is asked on behalf of—so and so, who has consented to sing in this afternoon's performance although indisposed.

But taken as a whole these were satisfying and stimulating presentations of "The Ring."

The customers went on strike last week and the audience assembled for "Götterdämmerung" found stolid figures stalking on the street with placards on their backs reading "customers of the Metropolitan Opera House are on Strike!" I asked one of them why he had walked out on the management, and to my amusement, he looked at me in surprise and replied, Oh, I don't know, and walked on.

Toscanini's return to his beloved Milan has been the occasion of general rejoicing in his native land, and he has already started rehearsals for a Puccini opera "Turandot" which has never been presented. A fight for tickets has begun, and I hear that applications have been received from all parts of Europe. Since Toscanini and his famous organization are heart and soul in the undertaking, the Scala will doubtless have one of the most brilliant seasons in its varied career.

Singers are reserving their energies; violinists are polishing their strads, and pianists are keeping their fingers flexible for the approaching season of spring festivals which soon will be upon us. James Wolfe, Louise Homer, Mischa Levitzki, Giuseppe Martinelli, Albert Spaulding and numerous lesser lights are booked for the Ann Harbor, Mich., festivities in May, and Myra Hess and George Barrere will appear in California next month at the Ojai Valley festival of chamber music. William Wade Hinshaw will take his company to Cincinnati, where he will present three Motart operas during the American Mozart Festival, also in May.

A few days before sailing to Europe, Jacques Thibaud, dropped in for a cup of tea to break the news that it is au revoir for two years as his European managers have booked him solidly abroad for that length of time.

He told me that it is a strange fact that whenever he gives a concert in New York, London or Paris, he invariably feels like a schoolboy on probation—taking his examinations as it were—and consequently feels that he never

Farmers of Middle West Present Views On Government Price Fixing And Fair Prices for Products

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, March 28.—Accurate, trustworthy information of first importance of the United States Senate and house of representatives committees on agriculture, considering legislation for farm relief, is herewith presented by the Chicago Herald and Examiner as a result of its original research into the question of adequate farm prices. To political leaders who have been assuming to tell the country what the farmer wants, this information will come as an astounding revelation:

1. Farmers in the middle west are not overwhelmingly in favor of government price-fixing, statements of farm leaders to the contrary notwithstanding. Their opinion is almost evenly divided on that question.

2. Farmers of the middle west have themselves set the following as fair minimum prices that ought to be paid the farmer for the products named:

|                    |           |
|--------------------|-----------|
| Wheat, per bu.     | $1.5391  |
| Corn, per bu.      | $0.9105  |
| Oats, per bu.      | $0.5153  |
| Rye, per bu.       | $1.0429  |
| Potatoes, pPer Bu. | $1.0436  |
| Hogs, per cwt.     | $10.5171 |
| Cattle, per cwt.   | $9.6817  |
| Butter, per bu.    | $4.421   |
| Milk, per cwt.     | $3.1390  |
| Eggs, per doz.     | $3.52    |

To the Senate and house committees the Chicago Herald and Examiner will present the foregoing data, supported by proper affidavit, and an exposition of how the data were secured.

These statistics are the first and only reliable ones compiled on the subject. In elucidating the way in which they were secured, this newspaper believes it will provide the department of agriculture with a new means for compiling on certain phases of agriculture statistics that will be beyond question because the method used eliminates the elements of "bias."

The method, pursued by the Herald and Examiner in its research into the question of adequate farm prices, follows:

On the farm—farm-to-market page of the Herald and Examiner, published only in an edition circulated exclusively outside the Chicago Metropolitan district, a ballot was printed on which farmers were asked to express their opinion concerning government price-fixing and also to name what they believed were fair minimum prices that ought to be paid to the farmer for ten products named.

In order to eliminate the element of "bias," cash prizes amounting to $500 were offered for the best five ballots, the standard for judging the excellence of the ballots being the averages of all the prices fixed by all the voters.

The names of the five winners plays as well as when he is in some of the smaller places, and that many of his friends confided to him a similar experience, Kreisler, Yaaye and Kochanski, among others.

Farmers About Even In Vote On Government Price Fixing

Here is how farmers of the middle west stand on government price-fixing of agricultural products:

|                |       |
|----------------|-------|
| In Favor of It | 2,407 |
| Opposed to It  | 2,119 |
| Neutral        | 279   |

Here are the averages of prices named by farmers in 4,805 Herald and Examiner agricultural research ballots as fair minimum prices that the farmer ought to be paid for:

|                         |                  |
|-------------------------|------------------|
| The ten products named: |                  |
| Wheat, per bu.          | $1.5391         |
| Corn                    | $0.9105 per bu. |
| Oats, per bu.           | $0.5153         |
| Rye, per bu.            | $1.0429         |
| Potatoes per bu.        | $1.0436         |
| Hogs, per cwt.          | $10.5171        |
| Cattle, per cwt.        | $9.6817         |
| Butter, per lb.         | .4421            |
| Milk, per cwt.          | 3.1390           |
| Eggs, per doz.          | .3262            |

estimates of fair minimum prices are closest to the averages of all the estimates received, will be announced in tomorrow's Herald and Examiner.

Of 4,805 ballots received from farmers in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and half a dozen other states, 2,407 were in favor of government price-fixing; 2,119 were opposed to it and 279 carried no vote on that question. Strangely enough Iowa, the state in which the "corn belt conference" was held last winter and where political leaders most strongly urged the necessity for government assistance in sustaining prices by legislation, voted against price-fixing 260 to 248, with 29 ballots ignoring the question.

In Illinois the vote was 1,511 to 1,294 in favor of price-fixing, with 170 not voting on the question. The value of the result of the voting as reliable statistics cannot be over-estimated. That is made most apparent, perhaps, by comparing the minimum prices for wheat, corn, oats, hogs and eggs, established by the Herald and Examiner vote as satisfactory to the average farmer, with the highly absurd figures presented to farm groups as reliable statistics on the cost of production of the same products.

The method of arriving at those "costs of production" was "unanimously approved by the twenty-four affiliated farm groups of the Corn Belt committee on the 21st of September, 1925, as submitted by the cost of production committee, with Milo Reno as chairman.

Burglar Caught In Bear Trap Escapes

(By Universal Service)

SAN JOSE, March 27.—A bear trap may hold, but not a 1926 model burglar. That is the opinion of Robert Trevey, Cliviso grocer, who reported today that a burglar, who entered his store, was caught by a bear trap laid by Trevey for possible intruders. But the burglar made away with the trap still clinging to him. A trail of blood showed that the trap had been sprung and that the intruder had made a desperate effort to free himself, before he hit upon the idea of walking off with the trap.

During this time I was treated by several physi- cians, all of whom agreed that an operation was the only thing that could help me. Neither my husband nor I liked the idea of the knife.

Upon the advice of my mother who, after having an operation on the right side, the wound forming a fistula which had never healed for 14 years, had found complete relief and fistula healed by drinking the Fong Wan herbs, I decided to try them.

Owing to my terrible condition and my extremely poor health, it took about six months before I was entirely well. I am now in splendid health and my old trouble have been completely vanquished.

Pullman Estate Is Involved In Big Law Suit

Institution of a suit charging breach of trust on the part of her late husband was announced yesterday by Mrs. Harriet Carolan Schermerhorn against the estate of her former husband Francis Carolan, who died in 1923.

Listed in the complaint are the charges that Carolan wrongfully converted to his own use 300 shares of the Corn Products company stock now included in his estate and the alleged wrongful conversion of a life insurance policy made by his wife in his favor and as yet not collected.

Mrs. Schermerhorn, who is the heiress of the late George Pullman of the Pullman company, claims that Carolan had charge of their personal accounts and that the records show a balance of $1,370,789 which she claims. As his estate can not pay the full amount, she asks that it be declared bankrupt.

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—A $1,500,000 suit against the estate of her late husband Francis J. Carolan, San Francisco Peninsula society man, was filed in the Supreme Court at Richmond city near here today by Mrs. Harriet Pullman Carolan Schermerhorn. "Pullman car heiress". The effect of the suit it is admitted would be to omit the necessity of paying $100,000 in state and federal inheritance taxes.

Mrs. Schermerhorn is sole legatee of Carolan's estate but in her suit she claims that even before Carolan's death she was legally entitled to the estate. If she secured the property by court decision instead of by inheritance she will be required to pay neither the state inheritance tax nor the federal tax. Mrs. Schermerhorn married Colonel F. Schermerhorn a year and a half after the death of Carolan her first husband in November 1923.

Mrs. Schermerhorn is the daughter of George N. Pullman, millionaire sleeping car man.

She asked that the Carolan estate be declared bankrupt and she be given the title to all of the property listed asserting it is rightfully hers.

Preliminary plans for the construction of additional lockers at the new municipal natatorium have been submitted to the engineering department of the state board of health at Berkeley, according to an announcement made by City Manager James A. McVittie. The cost of the improvements is estimated at $3,000 and final plans will be prepared and submitted immediately to the state board of health.

Before the improvements can be made, the plans must be approved by the state health board.

FOREIGN POLICY TO BE ISSUE IN FALL CAMPAIGN

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The foreign policies of the Coolidge administration today loomed as an outstanding issue of the important National elections this fall despite the desire of both old guard Republicans and Democrats to avoid it.

Ambassador Houghton's vivid declaration that the League of Nations is destined to ultimate collapse because of the intriguing of scheming nations desiring to set up a new balance of power, threw the whole issue into the arena.

The League of Nations disarmament conference, which the United States will join despite the general belief that that, too, is doomed to failure, will keep it alive.

September, when the campaign is under full swing, will find the League of Nations again in session, wondering whether the United States is going to sit down with it and explain the Senate reservations to the World Court. The League session will itself provide the final instrument for Senators Borah, Reed and other leaders to flay those senatorial candidates for re-election who voted to put the United States into the court.

Jubilant over the turn of affairs which they believed, has fully justified their opposition to the court, Borah and the others believe that American resentment against foreign alliances will be at the fever heat on election eve.

Thirty-four senators will be up for re-election. Most of them supported the court. About twenty-five are Republicans in states ordinarily regarded as debatable. Wherever the fight is made on the World Court issue by opponents of equal strength, the senators who voted to put the United States in will go down to an overwhelming defeat, Borah believes. In that event, President Coolidge would lose the Senate in the last two years of this administration when he will be putting forth his mightiest efforts to obtain ratification of his policies by Congress.

"Why should the League of Nations invite the United States to explain its reservations on the World Court?" Borah and the others are asking.

"We are told by the World Court advocates that the court was independent of the League, not part and parcel of it, as we had asserted. Evidently the League thinks it runs the court, or it would not be demanding that we make explanation to it. At every opportunity given them, the people of this country have voted to keep out of the League and its agencies."

The Illinois campaign between McKinley and Smith, the latter anti-court, will provide both the Republicans and Democratic leaders with the first test of strength. In the event that McKinley is defeated, they will redouble their energy to bring up other issues which may keep the public mind off foreign affairs.

California Leads In Electrical Development

California has the greatest electric power development in the nation. This development has taken place in your lifetime. It is still going on with ever-increasing strides.

Only thirty years ago electric service was limited to lighting. There were only small steam plants, no water power plants and electricity was high in price.

Today large, efficient power sources are interconnected with wide transmission systems, carrying low priced energy to cities, towns and countryside, making possible the production and prosperity of California towns, industries, farms, ranches, orchards and vineyards.

FACTS!

The cost of living is 65 percent higher than in 1913
The cost of government is 156 percent higher than in 1913
The cost of electricity is less than in 1913.

Good electric service is one of the cheapest things you can buy.
